

Pioneers and Native Americans

SS-EP-3.3.1 Students will define basic economic terms related to markets.

SS-EP-4.4.1 Students will describe ways people adapt to or modify the physical environment to meet their basic needs.

WORD BANK

Cabins

Woodland

Loom

Hunter-gatherers

Barren

Traded

The Paleo people were _____ . This means they hunted buffalo, deer, rabbits, and squirrels for meat and gathered wild berries, fruits, and nuts for food to eat.

Early settlers built houses known as _____ to live in.

The _____ Indians were the first people in Kentucky to farm. Growing food meant they did not have to travel to find food.

Woodland people did not use money to buy things. Instead they _____ things they had like furs, pottery, or baskets for things they wanted.

Early settlers called this area _____ because Indians burned trees and brush each fall so new growth in the spring would attract buffalo, deer, rabbits, squirrels, ducks, etc. as this area was an Indian hunting ground.

Women wove threads to make fabric to use for making clothing with a _____.